

A DEDICATED TEAM AND STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS DELIVER BIG RESULTS FOR HP

As one of the world's largest technology brands, HP's vision is to create technology that makes life better for everyone, everywhere and to reinvent what technology means for its customers. As part of this vision, HP wanted to reinvent its marketing strategy and turned to Performance Horizon to focus on digital partnerships. HP's ability to scale its program, and operate in a test-and-learn environment, means it now attributes a large portion of its online revenue to partnerships.

EXCLUSIVE UNIDAYS PARTNERSHIP

Working with the iProspect Team, HP formed a successful partnership with leading student site Unidays. It all started when Unidays reached out to HP directly, and working with their Head of Ecommerce Marketing, devised a partnership to offer their 1.2m student member base exclusive offers and incentives for HP products. The ability to form a direct relationship with Unidays, allowed HP to devise unique partnerships that worked best for their brand and resulted in Unidays driving 20% of sales for HP's partner marketing program.

TRULY INVESTING IN THE PARTNER CHANNEL

HP now attribute a significant portion of online sales to the partnerships channel; this largely comes down to their continued investment in the channel. HP's Head of Ecommerce Marketing, Paromita Mitra, knew she had to focus on her key partners, and through these efforts, now drives the majority of online sales through her top 20 partners. She meets with top partners regularly to ensure HP is continuously growing and driving sales through partners who have similar brand alignment.

DEDICATED SUPPORT TEAM

To ensure HP's success, Performance Horizon has a dedicated HP Customer Success Manager and Client Services Executive who work closely with the HP team and their agency iProspect.
